

Importance of taxa in explaining differences in phosphatase production between microbial communities

